

LLC SEMINAR, ACADEMIC YEAR 21/22

- 07/10 Leon Horsten (University of Konstanz) Reflexive subjective probability for epistemologists - in person
- 28/10 Federico Manzi (Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, Milan), Human-Robot Interaction and Theory of Mind from a developmental perspective.
- 11/11 Ned Block (NYU), An Empirical Argument that Perception is Non-conceptual - webinar
- 18/11 Roberto Demaria (Turin) Automatic argumentation mining: creation of an annotated corpus and pipeline for the processing of philosophical texts - in person
- 25/11 Lorenzo Rossi (Turin) Truth and quantification - in person
- 02/12 Amie Thomasson (University of Dartmouth) - webinar
- 13/01 Denis Perrin (Université Grenoble Alpes), What are déjà experiences? - in person
- 27/01 Alessandro Torza (Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México), Laws of nature and theory choice - in person
- 10/02 Lorenzo Rossi, Jan Sprenger (University of Turin), Conditionals and the logic of assertion - in person
- 17/02 Fabrizio Cariani (University of Maryland), Sketches for a pointless indeterminate future - in person
- 24/02 Giuliana Mazzoni (Università di Roma La Sapienza) The other face of memory: remembering experiences that never happened - in person
- 03/03 Mario Günther (LMU Munich), Legal Proof is Rational Belief of Guilt - in person
- 03/03 Carolin Antos (University of Konstanz), Working with defective formal concepts - in person
- 24/03 Francesco Ademollo (University of Florence), Transitive predication in Aristotle, Categories 3 - in person
- 24/03 Paolo Fait (University of Oxford), Lukasiewicz was wrong - in person
- 21/04 Elena Gandolfi, Inhibitory control from a developmental perspective: critical issues - webinar
- 19/05 Luca San Mauro, Learning Mathematical Structures - in person
- 26/05 Naftali Weinberger, When Do Statistics Provide Evidence for Discrimination by Police: A Causal Approach - in person
- 09/06 Philip Welch